Event Description: over two hours of exciting outdoor adventure films. We plan to include:

Far Out – Kai Jones: Eleven year old Kai Jones isn't old enough to go to the movies alone or order a sandwich at the pub, but in the mountains age doesn't matter. He is following in his family's ski tracks... right into backflips and tricks off of cliffs.

Sacred Strides: Bears Ears National Monument is one of the most talked-about public lands under threat. In March 2017, a group of Native American tribes put their differences aside and came together to run 1280 kilometers to Bears Ears to send a message of unity.

The Passage: In 1974 a small determined team built their own canoes, launched them into the Pacific, and became some the first people in modern history to canoe from Washington to Alaska up the Inside Passage. The Passage is a story about revisiting that journey, fathers and sons, and the wild places that define us.

My Mom Vala: Vala lives in Reykjavik, Iceland and travels to Greenland for work and to immerse herself in rivers thick with migrating char. But for Vala's 10-year old daughter, Mathilda, Greenland lives only in the stories that her mother tells and her own imagination.

Grizzly Country: After serving in the Vietnam War, author and eco-warrior Doug Peacock spent years alone in the Wyoming and Montana wilderness observing grizzly bears. This time in the wild changed the course of his life. With the protection of Yellowstone grizzlies now under threat, Peacock reflects on the importance of habitat and why he continues to fight for wild causes (PG – coarse language).

Dreamride 3: Inspired by a Dr. Seuss narrative, this mountain bike film is sure to take you places like no other.

Choices: A mountain biker has an amazing menu of rides to choose from but which will he pick? (PG – coarse language).

Surviving the Outback: Could you survive alone across hundreds of kilometers of remote outback for a whole month, trekking and sailing on a makeshift raft, with nothing but a time capsule of antique stuff from 1932? Mike wasn't sure he could pull it off either (PG – coarse language).

The Mirnavator: Ultra-runners overcome obstacles with every stride. Force of Nature Mirna Valerio never thought she would have to overcome the negative voices that believe she doesn't belong in the sport.

Skier vs Drone: It's the classic battle of man vs. machine but Olympic Bronze Medalist ski racer, Victor Muffat-Jeandet isn't worried.

Sheridan's Banff Mountain Film Festival provides an evening of entertainment while helping the Wyoming Wilderness Association increase awareness of efforts to protect Wyoming's public wild lands.
